THE SENATORS HOME AGAIN. Their Trip Wound Up With an Emphatic Defeat in Baltimore.

The wandering base-ball Senators wound up their late disastrous trip abroad in an appropriate manner Saturday by being crushed by the Baltimore team by the delightful score of eleven to nothing, with the accent on the nothing. The trouble was that the batters of the home team were as babies in the hands of Baker, who did the twirling for the Orioles, but one paltry hit, and a scratch at that, being made off his delivery. Jordan was the distinguished individual who broke the record. Opposed to Wizard Baker were both Bird and Daniels, the former doing rather better in the box than his successor, who came into the game at the beginning of the sixth inning. Just in time to let the other side hit him for four singles and a triple, besides giving two men bases on balls, all of which resulted in six runs. Bird's pitching had been enough of a puzzle to the other team to keep their runs down to three, and it is to be supposed that he did better than Daniels. Riddle caught at first, with not very good luck, having three passed balls during the five innings, and then Bird tried his hand at handling Daniel's delivery. The game was well played, but one error being credited to either side, Werrick and Whistler making the misplays. Whistler put out eighteen men and Wentz accepted all of his nine chances. Baker struck out nine men and each of the Washington pitchers one. O'Donohue, the new left fielder, took his one chance, but did nothing at the bat. The at-tendance was about eleven hundred. Wash-ington made 1 hit and 1 error and Baltimore 14 hits and 1 error. OTHER ATLANTIC CLUBS.

Washington Grove has improved very much during the last few years. In fact, it is quite a little village. It has now a large hotel (which is full at present), a good market, a first-class store, excellent pumps (which are all in good condition, having been recently repaired), beautiful well-grown oaks and everything to make one happy and comfortable.

Taylor of Indianapolis, a near neighbor and friend of the Harrisons, enjoyed a delightful straw ride. The rig was furnished by Robert Plummer, a prosperous farmer near by, and consisted of a big hay cart plentifully filled with the freshest straw and drawn by four fine horses. "Rupe" Waters, the charioteer, was gaily adorned for the occasion with a bright sash and favors. The party started from the front of Hotel Osborne at 8 o'clock amid the cheers and applause of a large throng of friends. They took their way through the main streets of the

A CHILD IN PAWN.

The Youngster Kept Because of a Refusal to Pay an Alleged Debt of $20.

Although advised that her actions are unlawful, Mrs. Julia Williams of Broad street, New York, is holding a six-year-old child as a bond for a debt of $20, which she claims is owed her by the child's mother. The latter went to Canada a year ago, leaving the child with Mrs. Williams, who was to receive $3 a week for its care. Saturday night the child's uncle intended to start for Canada with her and paid the board bill to date. Then Mrs. Williams produced a bill over a year old and refused to surrender the girl unless that too was settled. The uncle refused to pay and appealed to the police, but they could do nothing, although they told Mrs. Williams she was violating the law. The uncle will apply to the chancery court for the child.

SOUTH CAROLINA BONDS. A Decline in the Securities-Farmer Tillman's Financial Plan.

Since the political agitation began in March South Carolina securities have been on the decline in the markets and have fallen off many points. It is reported that holders of South Carolina bonds are getting very uneasy. Six million of these bonds fall due in three colored men, charging that in the conduct of years. They bear six per cent and the present administration has promised that they could refund the debt at 416 per cent, or a saving of one-eighth of the total tax. It is claimed that the Tillman faction cannot refund the debt at all. His opponents say that his plan is to have the bonds printed bearing a certain per cent and to make the exchange with the present holders without consulting their wishes n the matter.

A Colored Preacher Shot. Charles Lang, a colored man of unsavory reputation, is locked up in the city jail at Trenton, N.J., for shooting Theodore Ayres, a colored local preacher, at an early hour yesterday morning. Avres' had of late been attentive to Lang's wife. They had separated months ago and she showed a preference for Ayres. Lang has threatened to kill the preacher if he ever caught them together. He did so yesterday morning, and, without any warning, he drew his revolver and put a bullet in Ayres' stomach, where it still remains, and it is the opinion of Dr. A. H. Dey, the physician who was called, that Ayres will die, be cause of the peculiar position of the ball. Lang, after the shooting, made an awkward attempt to escape. He was run down by a posse of police and captured in a soap house on the out-skirts of the city. Lang's wife was also ar-rested, as she is wanted for a witness, Ayres is at the St. Francis Hospital in a precarious condition. He has made an ante-mortem statement, charging Lang with the BRAVE RESCUES FROM THE SURF Jack Williams and Other Life Guards Save Three Lives.

There was a triple rescue at the foot of South Carolina avenue, Atlantic City, yesterday afternoon. Three excursionists, Miss Margaret Finlin of Broad and Fairmount avenues, Miss Kate Doyle, 652 north 5th, and John Powers of No. 2215 Mendenhall street, Philadelphia, were disporting themselves in the surf among about 300 others. The sea was very rough and the life guards warned all the bathers to keep close to the shore. The three mentioned waded to a sand bar a short distance out and stepped over the outer edge. All three went down in water fully fifteen feet deep.

When they came to the surface their united cries for help struck terror to the hearts of hundreds of bathers in the surf and created onsternation among the throngs of spectators on the beach. Jack Williams was the the rescue. His powerful overhand strokes brought him quickly to the side of Miss Finin and he soon landed her safely on the beach In the meantime Rankin and Quinn had done equally gallant work in bringing Mr. Powers. and then the two sturdy young fellows plunged into the surf again and struck out She had disappeared when the guards reached the spot where the was seen struggling for life. Both young fellows began to dive after the unfortunate giri. Finally Life Guard Quinn appeared with the limp and almost lifeless form of Miss Doyle in his arms.

The other bathers joined hands through the breakers and stretched out to the assistance of the almost exhausted guards. All three of the rescued people, especially Miss Doyle, had to undergo the most vigorous treatment before they recovered sufficiently to be taken to their

KILLED IN THE STREET. A California Lawyer and Opera House Manager Shot Dead.

John D. Fiske, lawyer and opera house manager of Fresno, Cal., was shot down and instantly killed Saturday night by Joseph T. Stillman, an inventor. Stillman had been hunting for Fiske all day and found him at 8 o'clock standing in front of the Grand Central Hotel. Several blows were struck and both men worked toward the middle of the street. Fiske then turned and ran up the street, closely followed by Stillman, who had a revolver in his hand. Stillman fired a shot into Fiske's back. They still continued running, and soon a second shot was fired, followed by a third at close quarters. Just as the wounded man was falling foward on his face Stillman was seized by an officer. Stillman struggled in the grasp of several men who ran to the assistance of the officer. The prisoner was hurried to jail followed by a large crowd. Fiske was taken into a drug store with the blood streaming from his lips. He was gasping for breath, and as soon as he was laid on the floor he died. The body was taken to the morgue, where an autopsy was held. Stillman claims that the shooting grew out of an attempt of Fiske to blackmail him. He says Fiske has been demanding half interests in certain patents of his, and threatening that unless Stillman gave him such interests he would tell Mrs. Stillman of an alleged intimacy of her husband with another woman. Stillman de-clares he was driven to despration by Fiske's threat.

They Robbed the Rich Dead. A sensation is reported from Landshut, in Lower Bavaria, over the discovery that the cemetery keepers have been robbing bodies of the rich dead during the past two years. Clothes, ornaments and even hair have been stolen, while the costly caskets have been replaced by plain pine coffins. General exhumations have been ordered and the ghouls have been arrested.

Money Needed for Ireland's Cause. A telegram received at Mitchellstown, Irerington, M.P., has issued instructions to all branches of the National League to thoroughly reorganize and replenish the treasury of the Central League, which has been heavily taxed by large disbursements.

GET THE BEST

Is a good motto to follow in buying a medicine as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfac-tion it has given, and by the many remarkable cures it has accomplished. Hood's Sarsaparilis has proven itself unequalled for building up and strengthening the system and for all diseases arising from or promoted by impure blood. Do not experiment with any unheard of or untried article which you are told is "as good as Hood's," but be sure to get only Hood's. "Hood's Sarsaparilia takes the lead over any medi-cine sold in my thirty years in business."—J. S. DOCK. STADER, Rosendale, New York,
